

The Wisconsin no-call list has been a big improvement in the number of unwanted calls. It could even be stronger as far as I am concerned. It could also require fund raisers to abide by the list. Please do not bow down to the telemarketing industry and make Wisconsin abide by the less than effective national list. These companies, in many cases are using foreign countries to house their calling centers. It is bad enough to be interrupted during family time or sleep time, but to be interrupted by someone taking American jobs that barely speak our language is terrible.